Special Luncheon with Elaine Froese

DISCUSS THE UNDISCUSSABULL

Integrating business, life and faith

Elaine Froese is a catalyst for change, writer and coach who specializes in helping farm families work through issues surrounding succession, transition or that family favorite – communication. Faith Today magazine has dubbed her “Canada’s Farm Whisperer”.

Conflict avoidance is the biggest barrier to our next generation’s success when it comes to succession planning and execution. Elaine provides practical conflict resolution tools to help families have courageous conversations for business continuance and reduced family tensions. With her powerful combination of passion and practicality, she gives people the help and action steps they need to move forward.

Elaine is an award-winning author of four books: Planting the Seed of Hope: A Celebration of Prairie Life, Do the Tough Things Right, Farming’s In-Law Factor and Building Your Farm Legacy. She and her husband of 37 years farm in southwestern Manitoba alongside their son, daughter in law and grandchild. She is a depression survivor, a former highland dancer, and loves to travel.
